A woman in her sixties lived alone in her little cottage with a pear tree at her door. She took care of the tree very carefully. But the children nearby drove her ___36___ by making fun of her. They would climb her tree and then run away with pears, ___37___ “Aunty Misery” at her.

One evening, a passer-by asked to stay for the night. Seeing that he had a(an) ___38___ face, she let him in and gave him a nice ___39___. The next morning the stranger, actually a sorcerer (巫师), thanked her by making her wish come true. That is -- ___40___ who climbed up her tree should not be able to come back down unless she permitted it.

When the children came back to steal her fruit, she had them stuck on the tree. They had to beg her long before she gave the tree permission to let them go. Aunty Misery was free from the ___41___ at last.

One day another man stopped at her door. This one didn't look like a trusted man, so she asked who he was. “I am Death. I've come to take you with me.” said he.

Thinking fast Aunty Misery said, “Fine, but I'd like to ___42___ some pears from my dear tree to remember the ___43___ it brought to me in this life. But I am too old to climb high to get the fruit. Will you be so ___44___ to do it for me?” With a deep sigh, Mr. Death climbed up the tree ___45___ and was immediately stuck to it. No matter how much he warned or begged, Aunty Misery would not allow the tree to let Death go.

四、阅读理解

It was a winter morning, just a couple of weeks before Christmas 2005. While most people were warming up their cars, Trevor, my husband, had to get up early to ride his bike four kilometers away from home to work. On arrival, he parked his bike outside the back door as he usually does. After putting in 10 hours of labor, he returned to find his bike gone.

The bike, a black Kona 18 speed, was our only transport. Trevor used it to get to work, putting in 60-hour weeks to support his young family. And the bike was also used to get groceries (杂货), saving us from having to walk long distances from where we live.

I was sad that someone would steal our bike, so I wrote to the newspaper and told them our story. Shortly after that, several people in our area offered to help. One wonderful stranger even bought a bike, then called my husband to pick it up. Once again my husband had a way to get to and from his job. It really is an honor that a complete stranger would go out of their way for someone they have never met before.

People say that a smile can be passed from one person to another, but acts of kindness from strangers are even more so. This experience has had a spreading effect in our lives because it strengthened our faith in humanity(人性)as a whole. And it has influenced us to be more mindful of ways we, too, can share with others. No matter how big or how small, an act of kindness shows that someone cares. And the results can be everlasting.

46. How did people get to know the couple's problem?

- A. From radio broadcasts.
- B. From TV news.
- C. From a newspaper.
- D. From a stranger.

47. Which of the following is True?

- A. The author used to get to work by bike.
- B. The author's husband often parked the bike near the back door.
- C. Several strangers offered bikes to them, but they only accepted one of them.
- D. Somebody had stolen their bike before, but soon returned it to the author.

48. What do we learn from the couple's experience?

- A. Strangers are usually of little help.
- B. One should take care of their bike.
- C. News reports make people famous.
- D. An act of kindness can mean a lot.

49. Why was the bike so important to the couple?

- A. They used it for work and daily life.
- B. It was their only possession.
- C. It was a nice Kona 18 speed.
- D. The man's job was bike racing.

50. We can conclude that _____.

- A. the couple worked 60 hours a week before Christmas
- B. people were busy
- C. the stranger brought over the bike
- D. life was hard for the young family

(B)

Not everyone in the world requires the same amount of living space. The amount of space a person needs around him is a cultural difference, not an economic one. Knowing your own psychological (心里的) space needs is important because they strongly affect your choices, including, for example, the number of bed rooms in the home. If you were brought up in a two-child family and both you and your sister or brother had your own bedrooms, the chances are, if you have two children or more, that you also will offer separate bedrooms for them. In America, for example, they train people to want to have their own rooms by giving them their own rooms when they are babies. This is very rare in the world. In many other countries, the baby sleeps in the same bed with his parents or in bed near them

The space in the home also shows a lot about psychological space needs. Some families gather closer to each other and the size of their house has something to do with it. Others have separate little corners where family members go to be alone.

Although it is true that psychological space needs are not decided by economic reasons, they sometimes have to be changed a little because of economic pressures. It is almost impossible, however, to completely change your psychological space needs.

51. The first sentence in Paragraph 1 “Not everyone in the world requires the same amount of living space” means “_____”.

- A. Not two people need exactly the same amount of living space
- B. Living space requirements are not always the same
- C. The world requires the same amount of living space
- D. Nobody needs a required amount of living space

52. What does the underlined word “it” refer to in the second paragraph?

- A. the space in the home
- B. having separate little corners
- C. gathering closer to each other
- D. the economic reasons

53. According to the writer of the passage, psychological space needs _____.

- A. are not affected by income at all

- B. can hardly be changed altogether
- C. can be changed if you make up your mind to do so
- D. have nothing to do with cultural background

54. The passage can best be described as a/an _____.

- A. science fiction
- B. story
- C. scientific report
- D.

argument

55. The best title for this passage is _____.

- A. The importance of psychological space
- B. Living space
- C. Psychological space needs
- D. Psychological space in different countries

Patti Page, the top-selling female artist of the 1950s with more than 100 million records sold, died on January 2nd, 2013, when she was 85. She was one of the most beloved singers of the post-war era. Take her "Tennessee Waltz" for example, it sold more than 10 million copies and was her biggest hit.

Born in Claremore, Oklahoma, a small town near Tulsa, Page once dreamed of a career in commercial art. Her first job in the art department at a local radio station soon led to her performing 15-minute program on her own.

At the age of 20, Page was discovered by big-band leader Jack Rael, who gave up his job to become her manager. The next year, she signed her first recording contract with Mercury Records and enjoyed her first hit record soon. She stayed with Mercury for the next 14 years and recorded hit after hit including: "With My Eyes Wide Open, I'm Dreaming" and "Old Cape Cod".

Her last hit was "Hush*** Hush, Sweet Charlotte", recorded for the Bette Davis movie of the same name. And then, there was "Doggie in the Window". The creative tune was a huge hit, but with its repeated barking sounds and silly lyrics, the song has been used by many people as an example of all that was wrong with pop music in the early 1950s.

Throughout the 1950s, Patti Page made regular appearances on a variety of television shows and in 1957 she was chosen to host the musical program “The Big Record”. The following year, Page appeared in her own CBS television series “The Patti Page Show”. She continued to record and perform into the 21st century, most recently releasing an album of songs for children, a Christmas record, and a new “best of” collection.

Besides music, Patti Page did a bit of acting. She co-starred with the Oscar-winning Burt Lancaster in “Elmer Gantry”, and also starred on stage in the musical play “Annie Get Your Gun”.

56. According to the passage, Patti Page _____.

- A. wanted to be a singer as a child
- B. was born in a small town in 1928
- C. was known mainly for her acting skills
- D. started her work as a TV program hostess

57. In which order did the following things happen in Patti Page’s life?

- a. Patti Page hosted a musical program called The Big Record.
- b. Patti Page worked in the art department at a local radio station.
- c. Patti recorded “I’m dreaming” and it became a big hit.
- d. Patti Page made her first record.
- e. Jack Rael discovered Patti Page and became her manager.

- A. d-c-b-e-a      B. d-e-a-b-c      C. b-e-c-d-a      D.

b-e-d-c-a

58. The “Tennessee Waltz” is mentioned in the passage in order to show that

_____.

- A. Patti Page was a beloved singer
- B. Patti Page had talents for singing
- C. Patti Page’s songs are pleasant to hear
- D. Patti Page was good at recording songs

59. We can know from the passage that Patti Page _____.

- A. signed her first recording contract with Mars Records
- B. left Mercury Records at the age of 35
- C. appeared in "The Patti Page Show" in 1957
- D. wrote all songs for children in her late life

60. It can be learned from the passage that _____.

- A. Patti Page gave up singing in public in her late life
- B. Patti Page's gift for music began to be shown in her childhood
- C. Patti Page's great success was just because of her luck and others' help
- D. Patti Page was not only a successful singer but also an actress

第三节 书面表达

My dear friends,

As we know, nowadays many students don't like reading books in their spare time. One of the reasons why they don't read books is that there is so much homework that they hardly have time to read books. On the other hand, some students find it boring to read books. They prefer playing computer games, listening to music or watching TV to reading books in their free time. According to the research, a lot of students read less than 5 books a year. Some students always read the same kind of books, such as comic books, magazines and so on. In my opinion, reading books is not only interesting but also meaningful. We can learn much knowledge through the books. And it is also relaxing for me to read books. It's my happy moment when reading.
