As teenagers, you have many dreams. These dreams can be very big, such as winning the Nobel Prize, __26__ they can be small. You may just want to become one of the top ten students in your class.

Once you find a dream, what do you do with it? Do you ever try to make your dream __27__?

Follow Your Heart, by Australian writer Andrew Mathews, tells us that making our dreams come true is life's biggest challenge.

You may think you're not very good at some school subjects, or that it is impossible for you __28__ a writer. These kinds of thoughts prevent you from reaching your dream, the book says.

In fact, everyone can make __29__ dream come true. __30__ first thing you must do is to remember the dream in your mind.

Don't let it leave your heart. Keep __31__ yourself what you want. Do this step by step and your dream will come true faster because a big dream is made up of many small ones.

There __32__ difficulties on the road to your dreams. But the biggest one __33__ from yourself. You need to decide which is the most important. Studying instead of watching TV will lead __34__ better exam results, while saving five yuan instead of buying an ice cream means you can buy a new book. As you get __35__ to your dream, it may change a little. This is good as you have the chance to learn more skills and find new interests.

Then my teacher told me she had written a narrator's part for the play, and asked me to change __38__. Though I didn't tell my mother what had happened that day, she __39__ my unhappiness and asked if I wanted to take a walk in the yard.

It was a lovely spring day. We could see dandelions (蒲公英) popping (炸开) through the grass in bunches, as if a painter had touched our landscape with bits of gold. I watched my __40__ carelessly bend down by one of the bunches. "I think I am going to dig up all these weeds (杂草)," she said. "From now on, we'll have __41__ roses in this garden." "But I like dandelions,"

I said. "All flowers are __42__ ----even dandelions!"

My mother looked at me seriously. "Yes, every flower gives pleasure in its own way, doesn't it?" she asked thoughtfully. I nodded. "And that is true of people, too," she added. When I __43__ that she had guessed my pain, I started to cry and told her the truth. " __44__ you will be a beautiful narrator," she said, reminding me of how much I loved to read stories aloud to her.

Over the next few weeks, with her continuous __45__, I learned to take pride in the role. The big day finally came. A few minutes before the play, my teacher came over to me. "Your mother asked me to give this to you," she said, handing me a dandelion. After the play, I took the flower home, laughing that I was perhaps the only person who would keep such a weed.

Two good friends, Sam and Jason, met with a car accident on their way home one snowy night. The next morning, Sam woke up blind. His legs were broken. The doctor, Mr. Lee, was standing by his bed, looking at him worriedly. When he saw Sam awake, he asked, "How are you feeling, Sam?" Sam smiled and said, "Not bad, Doctor. Thank you very much for doing the special operation (手术)." Mr. Lee was moved by Sam. When he was leaving, Sam said, "Please don't tell Jason about it." "Well... Well... OK," Mr. Lee replied.

Months later, when Jason's wounds healed (愈合), Sam was still very sick. He couldn't see or walk. He could do nothing but stay in his wheelchair all day long. At first, Jason stayed with him for a few days. But days later, Jason thought it boring to spend time with a disabled man like Sam. So he went to see Sam less and less. He made new friends. From then on, he didn't go to visit Sam any more. Sam didn't have any family or friends except Jason. He felt very sad.

Things went from bad to worse. Sam died a year later. When Jason came, Mr Lee gave him a letter from Sam. In the letter Sam said, "Dear Jason, I am disabled. But I want you to be a healthy man. So I gave my eyes to you so that you can enjoy life as a healthy man. Now you have new friends. I'm glad to see that you are as healthy and happy as usual. I'm glad you live a happy life. You are always my best friend... Sam".

When he finished reading the letter, Mr. Lee said, "I have promised that I will keep this a secret until Sam is gone. Now you know it."

Jason stood there like a stone. Tears ran down his face.

It is true that people with better education are usually able to get better paying jobs. In other words, they have more chances to choose a good job while people with little or no education don't. It seems that the purpose of education is to make people get jobs. But this isn't accepted by all people.

Some people may think that a person should spend the best years of his life to get education only for a way of living. This was probably one of the earliest reasons of education. In fact, if education is just a way of making a living, people don't need to spend so much time in school. People can get education for a living in a short time. Subjects like history and geography need not be taught to everyone. Even language and mathematics need not be taught in detail, either. Here it is clear that education is much more than teaching a man to get a way of living.

Education is well-rounded and it is mainly for improving a man. It is not only to teach him to speak, read and write, but also to develop his creative thinking and other abilities. After that, it is to make him a wise man and thankfully enjoy the achievements of human. Education is to make a man lead a better life. Educated people are expected to be able to listen to good music, read good books, watch plays and most of all take an interest in the world.

I would agree that making a good living is an important reason for education, but certainly not the most important or the main reason.

51. People with little education usually ____.

We spend hours, days and years of our lives in school. Imagine you could design your dream school, what would it be like? What would you be doing? We wanted to find out what teenagers around the world thought. Here is what they said:

Richard from the USA: My dream school would have a big swimming pool and two soccer fields. It would also have a cinema, a gym and a shopping centre. My school has none of these, and I think there should be more pleasant things for students to do while they are studying.

Sonia from Italy: I'd like a room where we can relax and play computer games. I'd also like to have a music room. I think there should be a place for everyone to go and relax after class.

Wu from Beijing: I think it would be great to have another day off (休息日) every week, besides the weekend. If that day was a Friday or a Monday, we would have a long weekend every week. What fun! I also think school should start later, at about 10 o'clock, and finish earlier.

Hannah from Australia: In my dream school, I think the teachers should give us more freedom and choice about how we study and what we study. I also think it's not necessary for us to wear school uniforms every day. I really don't like wearing it.

That's all. Thanks for listening!

Dear friends,

Welcome to our school. I would like to talk about two ways of study in our school. The first way is to study in groups. When we study in groups, we can help each other. We can learn to listen to others and how to work together. Also, everyone can have chances to express his own ideas. The other way we like is to study by ourselves. We can make our own plans for study and make good use of time. We can also learn to think by ourselves. And the most important thing is that we can be the master of our own study.

That's all. Thanks for listening!
